HALLIDAY WINE COMPANION - JENI PORT

"Instantly recognisable as Heathcote shiraz with those deep purple hues and the scent of cassis, blueberry, leafy Aussie bush notes and peppery spice. That spiciness offers an enduring high note on a palate alive in ripe black and blue fruits, licorice, earth, dark spices and vanilla pod with hints of savoury undergrowth. Supple tannins contribute to the overall liveliness of the wine and its high drinkability factor"

WINE PILOT - SHANTEH WALE

"Fruit is from Heathcote, dark pigmented and inky in the glass. There is blood orange and dark plums, once again in this Pacha Mama line, fruit is the centre of attention with a small portion of new oak, 10%. A flicker of dark olive and sage leaf, some beetroot and sandy tannins. This will live on, another 4-6 years in the cellar but its drinking very well now, perky with clear intensity of fruit and taut structural lines. A very impressive vintage and stellar value here. Drink with shredded pork tacos or oxtail pasta."

THE REAL REVIEW - AARON BRASHER

"A dark, inky and youthful purple red in the glass. Ripe and opulent aromas of mulberry, boysenberry, sweet spice and violets. Rich, mouth-filling, dark fruited, firm and fleshy. Very youthful, a touch raw, but has the makings of a smart wine."
